Overview

Resources for Students in the Graduate Division

In addition to your mentor and your program administrator, the Graduate Division is part of your support network [1] at UC San Francisco. Turn to the Graduate Division for advice, ideas, and resources in all the following areas. (Be sure to explore also the Student Success [2] website for a broader look at the resources available to you as a student.)

Career Development

UCSF envisions a broad range of possible career options in both the public and private sectors for our graduates. New programs that will enhance career exploration opportunities and career development planning for our students and postdocs are underway. Find out more about career development resources [3].

Financial Support

Financial support is available for graduate students in the form of fellowships and scholarships, and through employment as a research or teaching assistant. See more about financial support options [4].

Diversity Programs and Resources

The Graduate Division advocates for diversity (in all the varied senses of that word!) and recognizes that the inclusion of students with a broad range of perspectives improves both the practice of science and the educational experience for everyone. Read more about diversity initiatives [5].

Personal Support
Struggling to keep up? Feeling overwhelmed? With so much on your plate, you may hit bumps in the road. Don't despair! Find out about the many resources available to you [1].

Undocumented Students

UCSF Undocumented Student Support Services [6] is a virtual resource center for the undocumented community on our campus. Here, you'll find DACA updates as well as information about your civil rights and legal services.

Got Questions?

We have answers! The Graduate Division is a central hub of practical information for students. Can't find what you need on this website? Contact us. [7] If you have suggestions for resources that might be included on this site, please contact Jeannine Cuevas, communications director: jeannine.cuevas@ucsf.edu [8] or 514-4852. Be sure to also explore the Student Success website [2] for a broader look at the resources available to you as a student.
