California Residency

To be classified a California resident for tuition purposes, you must be a financially independent, adult resident of California for more than one year immediately prior to the residence determination date or a minor whose parents are California residents. The residence determination date is the day instruction begins at the last of the University of California campuses to begin instruction for the term. For detailed information on California residency requirements please consult the Office of the Registrar [1].

*/

UCSF Main Site

© 2013 The Regents of the University of California

Source URL: https://graduate.ucsf.edu/california-residency

Links: